

A symbol of West African culture, this mark which is found on the HARC dog tags is known as DWENNIMMEN or "ram's horns" and is seen as a token of strength. This symbol may represent the social issues, beliefs, and ethical bearings of "self" and is said to include one's responsibilities, knowledge and education.

Is someone you care about living with HIV/AIDS?

Are you looking for answers to questions, strength for difficult times, and comforting contact with people who understand and can relate?
